Developers abandon 'casino row' plan

Ladner, Elliot say they want to work with their Clermont Harbor neighbors

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

While disagreements between condo developers and a local citizen's group rev up for a court battle, two local developers have decided to take the high road and work with their Clermont Harbor neighbors. Kirk Ladner's announcement Thursday evening that he and partner Russell Elliot were officially abandoning their plans to build the South Beach hotel/casino complex at the foot of Poinset Ave. has brought an enthusiastic response from residents of the community.

"We want to express our appreciation for the respect and concern that this decision shows for our community," said
Clermont Harbor Community Association president Millie Usher.

Nicholson Ave. project begins in Waveland

After years of delays, a project to revamp both the roadway and drainage on Nicholson Ave. in Waveland will finally get underway tomorrow.

The project will encompass the entire street from Hwy. 90 to the CSX rail tracks. Though the street will remain open to residents and emergency vehicles during the entire project, city officials are asking that drivers try to use "alternative" routes
when possible.

Avoiding the construction area will be safer and will save time.

Supers to consider codes for high-rises

Cowand: Resort district should be regulated

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER

District three Supervisor Lisa Cowand asked fellow supervisors to consider looking into the possibility of passing building codes for condos and high-rise buildings in the new C-4 resort district.

With the recent onslaught of applications from condominium developers, Cowand said she thinks the county should consider codes to regulate these and other commercial businesses. After more than 30 years of efforts to pass an ordinance for county building codes,
the effort failed again
at the polls just a couple of years ago.

For now, the county,
which has just approved about a dozen high rise condominium projects, has no legal building codes to regulate new development. Building official Mickey Lagasse has said that all large develop-

Candidates ready for Pass elections

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

Pass Christian voters will return to the polls for the city's general elections on June 7.

Incumbent Mayor Billy McDonald, a Republican, faces opposition from Democratic challenger Leon Roberts. McDonald has served as mayor of Pass Christian for 10 years, and was on the Harrison County Board of Supervisors for 12 years previously.

McDonald felt the biggest accomplishments of his last term were the privatization of WPCO, and the reduction of taxes. His administration has also used Tax Increment Financing, or TIF bonds, to pave over 30 roads, throughout Pass Christian, and to provide other improvements to the city's infrastructure.

"Since I've been in office, we've cut taxes by 17 mills," he said.

Roberts, who served in the air force and the Pass Christian Police Department for 13 years, currently works as a licensed practical nurse at the Armed Forces Retirement Home in Gulfport.

Roberts said that if elected, he would facilitate more participation between the mayor, city administration, and the public. He also wants to provide more for the city's public servants.

"They are very devoted people," Roberts said. "They need to be taken care of better too."

The primary elections for the city's aldermen were held on May 3.

Incumbents Donald Moore, Chip McDermott, Anthony Hall and Joe Piernas all reclaimed their seats in the primary. Lou Rizzardi won the most difficult race, successfully vying for an empty seat in Ward One. Howard McKissick, the former alderman, did not seek reelection, as he felt his recent appointment to a position in the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality would be a conflict of interest with his current duties as alderman.

Disaster drill set at Hancock Medical Center

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Hancock Medical Center will participate in a coast-wide functional disaster response exercise Tuesday, May 24. "Lifesaver 2005" is a multi-state drill based on a fictional explosion at the ABC oil refinery plant in Vandeave.

Over 200 people will play the roles of victims who are injured or killed in the blast.

HMC will receive a total of 15 patients during the drill, three of which will be transported by air.

Bay St. Louis Police and Fire Departments will be on hand, as will the FBI and Emergency Medical Services, in order to test communication, effectiveness and coordination of officials and public agencies during a disaster.

Throughout the morning hours of the drill, HMC will be on "lockdown" for the purpose of testing the Emergency Response Plan. Visitors and patients will be admitted through the Emergency Room lobby only. Barricades and check points will be set up at various points to route visitors and staff to a single monitored entrance to prevent hypothetical contamination of the hospital.

Exercises such as "Lifesaver 2005" are beneficial in identifying areas of strength or needs for improvement in a disaster response situation. Drills in years past have included such scenarios as a level IV hurricane and decontamination of victims exposed to hazardous materials.

Hancock Medical Center is an active participant in the National Disaster Medical System, an organization consisting of both federal and civilian health care facilities that are prepared to respond medically to all types of mass casualty emergency situations.

"Every employee plays a role in the Hospital Emergency Management Program."

"HMC participates in exercises like this in part to ensure that we fulfill our role in the Hancock County Comprehensive Emergency Management Plan," said Hank Wheeler, Director of Facilities Services.

Other area hospitals also participating in "Lifesaver 2005" are Garden Park Medical Center, Memorial Hospital at Gulfport, Biloxi Regional Medical Center, Singing River Hospital, Ocean Springs Hospital and Gulf Coast Medical Center.

Hancock Medical Center's involvement in emergency response drills is necessary "to maintain our readiness to support the community in response to any disaster situation," said Wheeler.

Crack sale in parking lot sends 2 to jail in Waveland

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

A Bay St. Louis and a Waveland resident were arrested Wednesday afternoon by Hancock County Narcotics Division Agents in a Waveland parking lot. Both face charges of sale of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

"Rodney Davis, 33,

Sycamore Street, Bay St. Louis, and Deric J. Gillum, 27, Amar Street, Waveland, were arrested and charged with the sale of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine)," Division director Matt Karl said. "Both Davis and Gillum, are now being held without bond, as a hold has been placed on them by the Mississippi Department of Corrections for previous arrests." "Sheriff's Narcotics agents and Criminal Investigators had set up a stakeout in the Waveland Highway 90 parking lot, as we had received word from an informant that drug activity was to take place," Karl stated. The arrests was made around 4 p.m., following about a 25 minute stakeout, Karl added. Narcoti's agent Push Phillips is in charge of the investigation.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

This is only a test, not an actual emergency

In case you notice an excessive amount of activity at Hancock Medical Center on Tuesday morning, in all probability it will be part of the coast-wide functional disaster exercise.

"Lifesaver 2005" is a multi-state drill based on a fictional explosion at the ABC oil refinery in Vancleave.

This annual exercise has expanded in area in addition to the number of 'victims' injured or killed in the mock drill.

This year there will be 200 'victims' who are either injured or killed.

HMC is scheduled to receive 15 'patients' during the drill, three of which will be transported by air.

The exercise is to test communication effectiveness and coordination of officials and public agencies during a disaster.

Hancock Medical Center is an active participant in the National Disaster Medical System, an organization consisting both federal and civilian health care facilities that are prepared to respond medically to all types of mass casualty emergency situations.

Throughout the morning hours of the drill Tuesday, HMC will be in a "lockdown" for the purpose of testing the Emergency Response Plan. Visitors and patients will be admitted through the Emergency Room lobby only.

Barricades and check points will be set up at various points to route visitors and staff to a single monitored entrance to prevent hypothetical contamination of the hospital.

Bay St. Louis Police and Fire Departments will be on hand, as will the FBI and Emergency Medical Services for this test.

Every HMC employee is an employee of the Emergency Medical Services, according to Hank Wheeler, Director of Facilities Services.

Other area hospitals will also be participating in "Lifesaver 2005".

Some folks are concerned about the appearance of their property, while many others are not.

The remainder of Spring is a great time to get out and do cleanup, if you have not already done so.

The appearance of our community says a lot about those who live here, and we really need to improve our appearance.

Just a little work by everyone, can amount to a big amount of improvements when all added together.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee has a slogan around 1990 that said, "Litter Free by '93". Needless to say, it is now

Dodging bullets with base closings

Mississippi dodged some big bullets last week when the Pentagon identified those military installations it recommends be closed or realigned. Mississippi's Congressional delegation will work to preserve Naval Station Pascagoula and Meridian's 186th Air National Guard unit as well as the other Mississippi military assets threatened.

I've long predicted this Base Realignment and Closure Commission (BRAC) round will be as much about military base realignment as about closure, and this is the case. I didn't believe the military could afford to close valuable training bases like Naval Air Station Meridian or Columbus Air Force Base. In fact, when the Pentagon proposals came out on May 13, we learned that Columbus AFB actually will pick up personnel and missions, while Meridian NAS will continue training naval aviators. These are first class, multi-mission bases vital to the War on Terror, and I'm pleased the Pentagon reaffirmed their value.

Naval Station Pascagoula is a unique case. We know this base is vulnerable because it is not a multi-mission facility. Therefore, it was almost sure to be on the list recommended to the BRAC. But, this, too, is a facility the military may not want to lose. Its location, accessibility and quality of life give it outstanding advantages. The Coast Guard has a growing presence there which is significant as homeland security becomes increasingly important. Beyond that, I believe this facility would be a great location for commercial development, should the military leave. Though I'd like to see the military stay, it is clearly a facility with intrinsic value of its own.

Meridian's 186th Air Refueling Wing is targeted by the Pentagon, not for closure, but for realignment or a mission change. The Pentagon recommends dispersing this unit's refueling planes to other units, but the facility's other assets remain. That means another mission could be on deck for the 186th, and Congressman Chip Pickering, Senator Thad Cochran and I will work to ensure this facility is protected. The history of this unit is extraordinary. Air-to-air refueling was invented there by the Key Brothers in 1935. Their plane now hangs in the Smithsonian Institution. The unit in which the Keys served has seen service on several fronts until air-to-

Letters to the Editor

Don't let our beaches be victimized

This is to voice our objection to the rape of Hancock County. Should the people of this county sit back and let our unique communities be invaded by high rise condominiums? Do we want to reflect what Long Beach, Gulfport and Biloxi have erected on their beaches? Can you explain to us why they are already designed and on the way? Just when did this take place? We're told (Sea Coast Echo) one tower is already reserved? Gee, how did that happen when it was never advertised locally or before permits were even applied for?

What is the purpose of the Planning and Zoning Board and the Board of Supervisors when they act without public review and consent? Who gave you the right to destroy what we have? How dare you?

Community growth should be a naturally continuing process of planned development that reflects and preserves our inherent local ambience and values. The Board's actions reflect a disdain for what has been the County's main attractions, and an acceptance of "anything goes" as long as it will bring a larger tax base to the county regardless of what is destroyed.

The Parade magazine's article this past Sunday, May 8, "History Happened Here," told of citizens cherishing what they have and saving cultural landmarks and preserving the natural beauty of their communities, and what do we have happening locally? Well, it appears that we've been sold out to developers by those who were in our trust!

Not without a fight!

Sincerely,
Elaine & John Harter
Waveland

Democrats should vote up or down for judges

Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist sent his Democrat colleagues a proposal last week for a fair compromise to end Democrat obstruction of President Bush's highly qualified judicial nominees. This proposal would guarantee a fair up or down vote on the Senate floor allowing all Senators an opportunity to have their say through a guaranteed 100 hours of debate. Thank goodness we have Sen. Trent Lott and Sen. Thad Cochran representing MS, but we need to contact all Senators to do their job and have an up or down vote. The lack of Judges just makes our overloaded Court System more difficult.

Sincerely,

South is south, more or less

Yesterday I watched three columns of smoke rise up from the horizon to our south. From the location, I know these were coming from marsh fires. The white tops of the columns were another giveaway. When marsh grass burns, it usually evaporates the water associated with the burning grass and, since the moisture-laden air is lighter than the soot material of the smoke, the column is capped with a small white cloud.

It's unusual nowadays to see marsh fires. There was a time years ago when they were comparatively common. Not so any more, I'm not sure why. Lightning usually caused the old fires and, since there has not been a lightning storm for some time, yesterday's fires were probably manmade.

But, as I said, lightning usually caused the old fires. From our porch, we often witnessed spectacular nighttime heat-lightning displays south of us over the Louisiana marsh. These were often seemingly phantom presentations; the bolts often exploding noiselessly inside the clouds, illuminating the vast billowing shapes of the clouds in varying colors, or striking free of the clouds, momentarily lighting up their dark bottoms and reaching jagged forks down into the marsh.

Most of the bolts of these displays were vertical; there were rare ones, however, that traveled horizontally vast distances across the night sky. Although these heat-lightning displays were often accompanied by distant muttering thunder, the eeriest thing about them was that sometimes there was no noise, just the quick spreading flash of jagged light and a quick momentary spread of pastel-tinted cloud.

Times have changed. During an exceptionally dry spell about twenty-five years ago, Stella and I watched a marsh fire move slowly across the southern horizon, burning night and day for several days. The fire was so intense that the flames were visible on the horizon, especially at night. Sometimes the flames would hit some large pocket of combustibles and we would see flames suddenly vault high in the night air.

Because of the vast distance, it was eerily quiet and we had the feeling of watching some panoramic show that had no real substance. Yet, I am sure, the wildlife destruction in the marsh must have been huge.

I said I was looking at the Louisiana marsh. Which brings up a couple of unusual local geographic difficulties.

We in Hancock County are often confused into thinking that we are looking south when we look from the beach out over the water. Not so. Our coast does not face south, but more easterly, or, better put, southeast. So we have to turn to what we confusedly think of as west to really see south. I know it's confusing. Get a map and check it out.

We also think that just south of us are the Barrier Islands, and beyond them the blue waters of the Gulf of Mexico. Again, not so, south of Hancock County (that is, true south) is Louisiana. Don't just take my word - I know you secretly don't believe me - look at the map. What the map will show is that to our south lies the east-pointed boot that makes up the ecologically rich Louisiana marshes.

It's a region made up mostly of marsh grass, low islands, and water. Because there are no trees, atmospheric conditions have to be exceptional for us to see the low grassy islands. In the thirty years we have been here, we have only seen this optical phenomenon happen once. But the day we did, the grass islands were clear and distinct as if they were only a few miles away.

As a younger man, I worked in those same marshes. My work then involved planting small packets of explosives and recording the return echoes of their explosions. I was with a company searching for oil. Oil then was three dollars a barrel and I was paid $450 dollars a month plus room and board on an old company-owned stern wheeler parked in the marsh.

I remember very well the stifling heat, the air that didn't move, and the biting flies. But I also remember the vast sea of marsh grass and the endless labyrinth of water passages through the low islands with their tall clumps of grass and wildlife.

I would sometimes get lost moving through these labyrinths and I would have to stand on the roof of my mud boat until a Cajun co-worker would see me and, feeling sorry for me, would come and guide me home. Oddly enough, very few of my co-workers could swim. I was often pulled from my place on the "shooter" rig to dive for gear that had fallen over the side of one of the other workboats. When I would find it, everyone would look amazed. To be truthful, considering how dark the water was and the strong currents, I was usually just as surprised.

But all of this is part of yesterday. Today, when I stepped out on the porch and looked south, the smoke from the marsh fires was gone. But, happily, the memories of the bigger fires and the hot working days of years ago are still with me.

air refueling, returned to Meridian as a mission not so long ago. No matter what the mission, the 186th has performed magnificently, and I'm confident that the 186th will continue as an honored and vital part of America's military aviation community.

There are some additional realignment recommendations from the Pentagon that impact Stennis Space Center in Hancock County, the Vicksburg Corps of Engineers station and Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi. Of these, the proposed realignment for Keesler could be the most troubling. The Pentagon proposes basically to turn the hospital there into a "super clinic." I'll be studying this proposal very carefully. I want to make sure it doesn't impact the quality of care our military personnel and veterans obtain, and I'm prepared to vigorously oppose it, if necessary. I'm also considering the proposed changes at Vicksburg and Stennis. On the surface these are minimal proposals, but still they affect real jobs and real people.

Finally, I welcome the Pentagon's decision to close the old Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County. This is nothing short of a paper shuffle since the facility has been mothballed for years but not released for other uses.

Now I look forward to helping find additional private tenants for this facility which has a lot of potential considering the rapid economic growth throughout this area, particularly from aerospace and research companies now migrating to Stennis Space Center. Remember, while the Pentagon proposes to take away just over 100 jobs from Stennis, NASA is moving up to 500 jobs there with last week's announcement it will be moving its Shared Services Center to Stennis. This will consolidate a lot of NASA's administrative jobs currently scattered throughout the country to Stennis Space Center, increasing efficiency and decreasing costs.

The BRAC process is not over, but it's clear Mississippi will not face a massive economic exodus from base closure or realignment. Yet, a lot of our folks have spent a lot of time and money worrying. I hope that when the Pentagon wants to close bases again, we'll scrap the BRAC process and return to allowing Congress to close bases, based on military recommendations. It's a far better process than scaring thousands of loyal, patriotic American communities for no reason.

Division & State titles are plentiful in 2004-05

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

As the school year draws to a close and the days get hotter, the high school sports scene is quickly coming to an end. The area schools have enjoyed another highly successful year in the arena of athletic competition for both boys and girls. Overall, the area schools won 12 division titles, three south state championships and four state championships.

Bay High School won three state titles while OLA claimed the fourth state title. Bay High, SSC and OLA brought home the three south state championships with one each. SSC led the way with five division titles in football, basketball, track, golf and tennis. Bay High claimed two division titles in girls basketball and baseball. OLA brought home division titles in volleyball, soccer, track and tennis while Hancock claimed a division title in girls basketball.

St. Stanislaus participated in the post-season in every sport offered at the school except for baseball. Bay High advanced to the second season in all sports they offer except soccer. OLA continued their seasons in each sport they offer except basketball and softball. Hancock advanced to the post-season in girls basketball, volleyball, swimming, tennis and track.

The Lady Tigers started things off for the area with two state titles in the fall - volleyball and dance team. OLA won the division championship in volleyball but Bay High got their revenge in the South State championship game and earned the right to play for the state title. The Lady Tigers defeated Desoto Central for the crown in October.

The Bay High Steppers claimed the second state title for Bay High when they won the MHSAA sanctioned dance team championships in the fall.

The Rock-a-chaws won their first-ever division title in football and advanced to the second round of the state playoffs. Bay High also advanced in football losing in the first round of the playoffs.

The Rocks and the Crescents are the only ones that field a full team in cross country. Both school participated in the state meet in Clinton in October with the Rocks placing in the top 10 while OLA made the top three.

Hancock, OLA and SSC all participated in the state swimming championships in Biloxi in October with SSC claiming a second place finish in Class 4A and OLA getting their first-ever gold medalist in Alyssa Walters. She also set a state individual record in her gold medal event.

The Lady Tigers of Bay High completed one of the most spectacular four-year runs in state athletic history. Bay High played in their fourth consecutive state 4A title game on the hardwood and won their second 4A state title in three years with their resounding win over Jackson-Callaway in March.

The Hancock Lady Hawks and St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws both claimed division titles in basketball but were eliminated in the south state tournament. The Bay High Tigers also advanced to post-season play with a runner-up finish in the division.

In soccer, OLA captured their sixth consecutive state championship with a win over Greenville-St. Joe earlier in the winter. OLA also captured division and south state titles in their championship run.

The Rock-a-chaws lost the division championship in soccer to the Gautier Gators but gained revenge as they claimed the South State title over the Gators about three weeks later. SSC played in their fourth consecutive state game but lost to Pearl.

The Bay High Tigers ruled the diamond with an almost flawless division run and claimed the Division 8-4A title. The Tigers hosted the first round of the state playoffs and took the East Central Hornets to a third game in the decisive series and fell just shy of advancing.

The Lady Tigers also advanced to the post-season in fast-pitch softball but were eliminated in the first round.

The Rocks claimed their first of three division titles in eight days in the spring sports. SSC claimed their 16th division title in track in the last 18 years. They would later place third in the region and 10th overall in the south state meet. The OLA Crescents also claimed a division title in track and field and had a double bronze medalist at the state championships in Jennifer Asper in the 1600m and 3200m runs.

Cory McGee of Pass Christian added gold medals in both the 1600m and 3200m runs in Class 4A for the Lady Pirates.

Mollie Nunez of Hancock claimed a state gold medal in the 1600m run for the Lady Hawks.

In tennis action, the combined team of SSC/OLA claimed the Division 8-4A title and sent representatives in boys singles, girls singles and boys and girls doubles to the state tennis championships. Henderson Hewes of SSC advanced to the semi-finals in boys singles.

Hannah Johnson represented the Bay High Lady Tigers in girls singles while Mollie Nunez and Tom Stackman represented Hancock in the state tournament. The Pass Christian mixed doubles team also advanced to Jackson.

In golf, the Rock-a-chaws won the Division 8-4A title and placed 12th overall in the state golf championships held last week.

The Rocks also competed in the regional qualifying round of the Southeastern Sailing Association but fell just short of competing in the national championships.

In powerlifting, SSC brought home a gold medal in the 114-lb division as Chris Tran became SSC's first state champion in the sport. JC Brignone and Colin Miller of Hancock also competed in the state meet. Both lifters placed fifth overall in their respective weight divisions.

The school year is quickly coming to a close. This year's athletic accomplishments by the area are numerous. Does the next school year hold the same promise? Stay tuned and we shall soon find out as August 1st will be here before we know it. See you at the games!

Brook-Lin Center continues success

The Brook-Lin Center for Gymnastics, Dance and More continued its success at the USAG (United States Association of Gymnastics) Mississippi State Championship held in Jackson, MS for Levels 3-10.

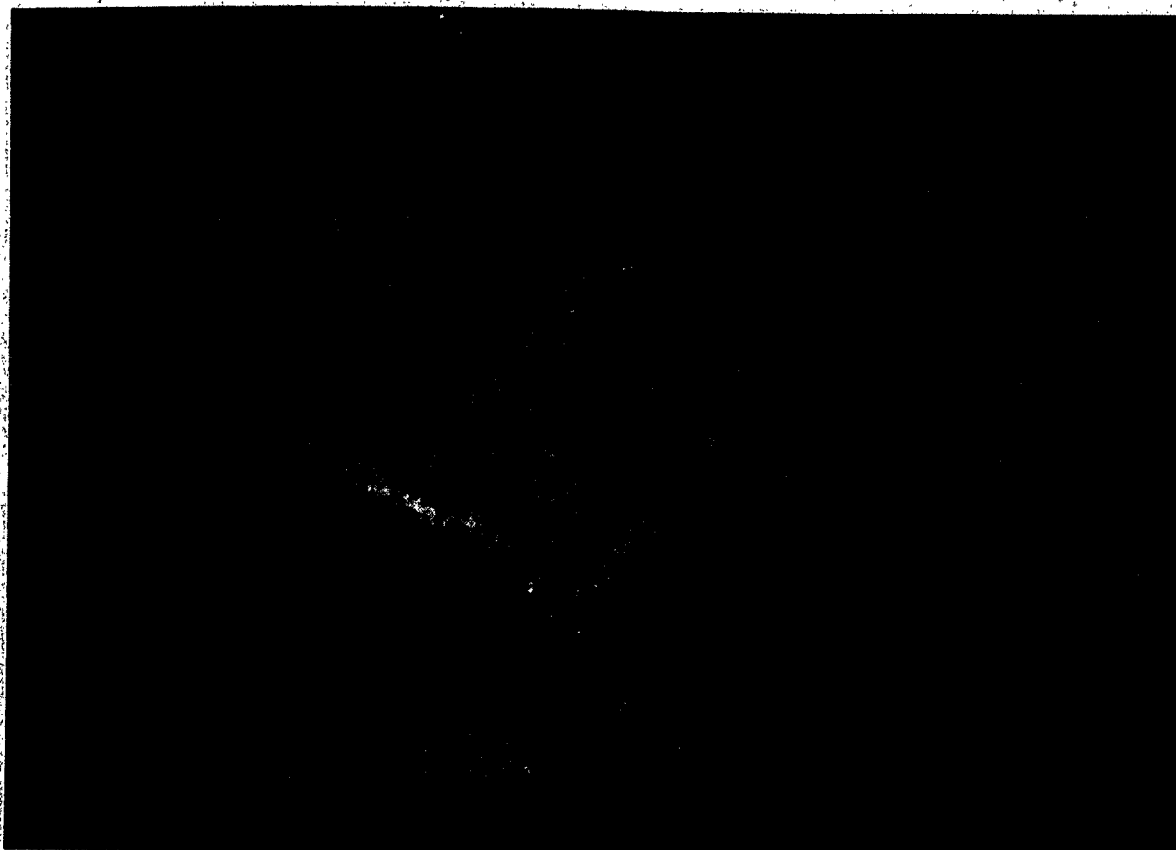

Level 3 compulsory gymnasts competing were: Haley Holder (9 year old age group) gold medalist floor exercise, Silver medalist balance beam and bronze medalist vault and all-around; Lauren Necaise (11-up age group) silver medalist floor exercise, bronze medalist beam, vault and all-around; Abigail Arcement (11-up age group) silver medalist vault, bronze medalist bars.

Level 6 is the highest compulsory level of gymnastics in the USAG Jr. Olympic Program.

Capturing a clean sweep of the gold medals was Mary Bern Olhenforst, age 12. She won first place in the All-Around, vault, bars, balance beam, floor exercise.

The Brook-Lin Center also had athletes competing in the optional level of the USAG Jr. Olympic Program in levels 8, 9, and 10. Along with State Championship awards for grabs, Levels 8, 9 and 10 have Regional Championship qualifications at stake. In order to qualify to Level 8 Regional Championship a gymnast must place in the top 10 All-Around spots regardless of age group. The top 8 gymnasts with the highest all-around score make up Mississippi's Regional Team Members and compete in the Team Competition at Regionals. The athletes with the next highest all-around scores make up the final two spots awarded as all-star competitors, and they compete in the all-star groups at Regionals. The Brook-Lin Center had 3 athletes qualify for the Level 8 Regional Championships held in Ft. Lauderdale, FL April 6-8, 2005. Those athletes were Clara Pratt age 13, Jenna Gibson age 12 and Maguy Bowman age 12. Clara and Jenna represented Mississippi as Regional Team Members. Maguy Bowman represented Mississippi as an All-star Regional Team Member.

Clara Pratt scored the highest all-around total for any Mississippi athlete ever in a level 8 regional team competition with a 37.10 placing her 12th in the all-around against the top gymnasts from Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Level 8 Regional Qualifiers Clara Pratt, back; Jenna Gibson; and Maguy Bowman.

Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina. Clara also placed 8th on the vault event with a score of 9.45.

Maguy Bowman competed against 60 other athletes in the all-star division and won medals on vault and All-Around.

State Meet Individual results for Level 8 were as follows:

Jenna Gibson (age group 8-11) silver medalist on bars and floor exercise, 4th All-Around; Clara Pratt (age group 12-13) silver medalist vault and floor exercise, bronze medal All-Around; Maguy Bowman (age group 12-13) gold medalist floor exercise, 5th all-around; Elyssa Derka (age group 12-13) bronze medalist floor exercise, 7th all-around; Logan Wilkerson (age group 14-15) gold medalist bars & balance beam, silver medal AA; Marissa Mannion (age group 14-15) 4th place bars and floor exercise, 4th all-around.

The Brook-Lin Center had two level 9 and one Level 10 optional athletes competing in the State Meet. Level 10 optional is the highest level you can reach in the USAG Jr. Olympic Program.

In order to qualify for the Level 9/10 Regional Championships the gymnast must score a 34.00 in the All-Around to advance. All three athletes qualified easily scoring well above the 34.0 required along with bringing home gold medals.

State Meet level 9/10 results:

Level 9: Charleen Zoerner (age group 14-15) gold medalist sweep of all events, vault, bars, beam, floor exercise and all-around; Kaitlin Green (age group 16-up) gold medalist bars, beam, floor exercise and all-around.

Level 10: Alysha Pretzello (age group 15-up) gold medalist bars, silver medalist vault, beam, floor exercise and all-around.

The Level 9/10 Regional Championships were held April 14-16 in Nashville, TN at Vanderbilt University. At this level the gymnasts have an opportunity to qualify for a national competition. To qualify for nationals a gymnast must place in the top 10 out of 40 gymnasts in the all-around in their age group.

Both Kaitlin Green and Charleen Zoerner qualified for the Level 9 National Championship to be held May 6-8 in Sarasota, Florida. The Brook-Lin Center was the only club in Mississippi to qualify athletes to the National Championships. Along with qualifying to Nationals, the girls brought home regional medals.

The Regional Results were as follows:

Kaitlin Green Level 9 Senior C age group, 2nd all-around, bars 3rd on beam, 5th on vault; Charleen Zoerner Level 9 Junior D age group, 6th all-around, 4th bars and floor exercise.

Alysha Pretzello competing in her first year as a level 10 was 8th on the uneven bars and 15th on vault.

The Brook-Lin Center gymnastics team is proud of all the gymnasts' accomplishments and lay claim to the club with the most regional qualifiers in the state of Mississippi.

The optional team is coached by Terry Kruchowsky.

Weathers tells PRCC graduates to become involved

Jon Mark Weathers' message Tuesday to graduates of Pearl River Community College in M.R. White Coliseum was, "Reflect on and thank those people who played a role in making this possible for you to be here today."

Weathers, district attorney, 12th Judicial District of Mississippi (Forrest, and Perry counties), and a 1968 PRCC graduate, told some 400 graduates, "Without the help of all those people, you would not be here today. You have learned a great deal to this point and you will learn much more."

"Regardless of your career choice, Pearl River Community College has given you the knowledge to move forward. Thousands of students have gone on to be successful due to their start at Pearl River."

Weathers, a native of Natchez, was admitted to the bar in 1972. He received a bachelor of arts from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1970 and his Jurist Doctorate from the University of Mississippi in 1972.

He served as city attorney in Richton before becoming district attorney, 12th Judicial District of Mississippi, from 1976-80. He returned to private practice in Hattiesburg, then took office as district attorney in July, 2003.

"There are no guarantees in life," Weathers told the graduates. "Find a career you enjoy and do everything you can to be the best at it. Get involved in your church and community, register and vote in elections, sit on juries when you can. Remember, you will be the leaders of the future."

PRCC students received diplomas or certificates of proficiency during separate commencement exercises. PRCC's career-technical graduation was held in the morning. The college's Associate Degree Nursing Program pinning-candle lighting ceremony and academic commencement were held in the afternoon.

Most academic graduates were planning to further their education at four-year institutions. Two of them, Melissa Kay Tillery and Traci Lynn Comesana, both from Purvis, will be roommates when they transfer to Louisiana State University in the fall and major in business administration and marketing.

"The thing I have enjoyed the most about Pearl River Community College is the one-on-one experience with my teachers," said Comesana. "Attending a community college prior to entering a university helped me build a strong foundation of learning and studying."

Tillery agreed. "I have been very pleased with my decision to attend Pearl River. The classes are smaller leading to a more personal learning relationship with peer students and teachers."

Many career-technical graduates plan to enter the workforce or have other plans. One of them is 64-year-old Beany Hornsby of Hattiesburg, who received an Associate in Applied Science Degree in Automotive Mechanics Technology. This was his ninth college degree.

"I collect miniature cars, and I wanted to learn how to work on them," said Hornsby, who owns nine cars, including a 1973 Mini Cooper and a 1966 Fiat 500. "I love to work on my cars. I feel confident I can be a mechanic now, even though I am a little too old."

Hornsby spent 35 years in the Navy as a chaplain, before retiring at the rank of captain. He taught English classes part time at PRCC, William Carey College and the University of Southern Mississippi this fall; and plans to fund an Automotive Mechanics Technology scholarship at PRCC with the money he makes from teaching at PRCC.

The PRCC Associate Degree Nursing Program graduated 28 students during its 37th pinning ceremony.

The college speaker was Catlin Weaver of Carriere. The presentation of pins was handled by Peggy Dease, the Associate Degree Nursing Director, and Belinda Holden, Coordinator of Sophomore Nursing. Patricia Strebeck, Coordinator of Freshman Nursing, handled the presentation of name pins.

PRCC President William Lewis had the same message for all ceremonies Tuesday. "You now become a legion of Pearl River graduates around the world," he said. "Always remember you are a part of this institution, and you will always be welcome here."

Sciatica Means Nerve Pressure; Chiropractic Care

Sciatica, often mistakenly referred to as a disease, is actually a symptom of nerve pressure or an irritation of the sciatic nerve which can be caused by a physical injury, malfunction or disease. Since the sciatic nerve is the largest and longest nerve in the human body, it is not surprising that many authorities consider it the most susceptible to injury.

Whether caused by over-exertion, a fall down a stairway or a kick from a mule, the result is the same... pain. The pain may be minor in its first stages and cause only mild discomfort, or it may be crippling and intense to the point of making strong athletes weep.

The pain of sciatica may appear anywhere in the region of the sciatic nerve, from the low back down to the feet.

Applying heat or cold to the painful area in an attempt to relieve sciatic pain will not solve the problem, nor will it be truly successful in bringing temporary relief.

Sciatica is a problem for the Doctor of Chiropractic!

As a chiropractor, he knows that nerve interference in the low back is the cause of trouble. His training and experience enable him to treat the cause, not just administer temporary measures aimed at alleviating the symptoms.

Through proper care and treatment, he works to relieve the pressure on the sciatic nerve and to eliminate the interference, thus enabling the sciatic nerve to resume proper functioning, eliminating the problem from within. The healing process takes place naturally, with nothing added to or removed from the body.

Forestry Commission uses military surplus equipment to save money & preserve environment

BY T. KEITH BEATTY
County Forester

Prescribed burning is just one landowner service provided by the Mississippi Forestry Commission, and one of its most popular. Landowners contract with the state forestry agency for burning for a variety of reasons: reducing forest fuel levels, encouraging the growth of wildlife food plants, clearing forest underbrush and preparing sites for replanting, to name a few.

Burning must be carefully planned and conducted; otherwise a benign prescribed burn might become an uncontrolled and damaging wildfire. Burns can only be conducted under exacting weather conditions in order to accomplish burn planners objectives. Equally important, burns must be conducted when smoke will rise and quickly dissipate so it won't smoke in roads or cause an air pollution episode.

Such "burning days" are scarce, so waiting lists often develop. But when conditions are right, Forestry Commission crews quickly put their plans into action.

Fiscal year 2005, beginning July 1, 2004, has been wet with few favorable burning days. Even so, Forestry Commission crews conducted 254 burns on 17,000 acres.

Landowners might pay the entire burning fee, but often burning is done under a forestry cost-share program, with the landowner and the government sharing the cost.

A special category of prescribed burning is hazardous fuel mitigation or "mitigation" burning done in selected areas of the "wildland/urban interface" where forest fuel build-up threatens suburbs that have spilled over into the forest.

Due to the large size and immediacy of these burns, crews from around the state are often brought in to help. The burn is managed using the "incident command system," which was developed by state and federal agencies to manage large wildfires and other emergency situations. All Mississippi Forestry Commission employees have received training in this system and, in fact, often serve within it when helping the Forest Service fight large fires out of state.

Specialized equipment is often needed in these often-sensitive environments. Much of it is developed from military equipment, which was declared excess to the military's needs and obtained, free of charge, by the Mississippi Forestry Commission's Federal Excess Property Program Department, and modified by Forestry Commission mechanics. For example, where plowed firelanes might cause environmental damage, burners lay down a "foam line" using a modified foam-lying military surplus "Humvee."

During FY 2005, the Forestry Commission has conducted mitigation burns on 1800 acres.

NASA's Program Development Directorate at Stennis Space Center (SSC) in Hancock County, Stephen Brettel of Waveland.

Waveland man works on leading edge of technology at Stennis

THE SEA COAST ECHO

As director of NASA's Program Development Directorate at Stennis Space Center (SSC) in Hancock County, Stephen Brettel of Waveland is on the cutting edge of technology that will help fulfill America's Vision for Space Exploration. He is in charge of recruiting new business for SSC and seeking new uses for NASA technologies in the private sector.

Brettel also serves as Program Manager for NASA's Rocket Propulsion Test Program, which manages all of NASA's rocket propulsion test assets and activities around the country and is NASA's authority for rocket propulsion assignments.

He considers Mobile, AL, his hometown and is passionate about his work with America's space program. But the path that brought the 1976 Montgomery Catholic High School graduate from Montgomery, AL, to his current job was far from direct. Brettel studied metallurgical engineering at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa and graduated as a civil engineer from the University of South Alabama in Mobile in 1982. He worked for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and later took a job as Chief of Office Engineering in El Salvador. An earthquake struck the country's capital city region shortly after Brettel arrived there in 1986. He spent six days volunteering in the disaster recovery efforts, earning the Exceptional Civilian Service Medal for Bravery from the Secretary of the U.S. Army.

Back in the U.S. two years later, Brettel worked on the Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) project for NASA under an inter-agency support agreement. Brettel was selected by NASA in 1990 to manage its ASRM nozzle facility at the Michoud Assembly Facility (MAF) in New Orleans.

At the end of the ASRM project, he accepted a position as a lead engineer for Space Shuttle Main Engine testing at SSC. In 1994, he was chosen lead systems integration manager for the Superlightweight (External) Tank project at MAF.

In 2000 he was chosen to manage the MSFC's External Tank Upgrade Program. There, he was instrumental in developing a new technique that uses self-reacting friction stir welding to repair the Space Shuttle's External Tank material.

"It's about twice as strong as a fusion weld, with virtually no defects. That was one of my most significant accomplishments," Brettel said. The Superlightweight Tank Program ended in 1998. Brettel was selected in 2000 to be manager of the External Tank Program at MAF.

"Friction-stir welding was a huge success," he said. "It revolutionized the way we weld aluminum." In 2002, he was chosen manager at MAF. When Space Shuttle Columbia was lost in February 2003, Brettel was on a yearlong duty rotation at Johnson Space Center (JSC) in Houston.

After fulfilling those duties, Brettel returned to MAF and helped guide the plant's External Tank redesign effort.

He accepted his current position at SSC in April 2004. Since arriving at SSC, the priority of Brettel's office has been to develop new business opportunities for SSC. According to Brettel, new opportunities are being sought in the traditional roles of rocket propulsion testing and applied sciences, as well as federal city activities like the NASA Shared Services Center. Opportunities are also being sought in nontraditional partnerships that leverage the skilled work force of SSC, such as the hydrogen initiative.

"We want to develop new business opportunities for SSC's work force, to make sure we are sponsoring technology growth in this area of the country - growth that helps the adjacent communities, provides their children a place to come to work that is on the very tip of the world's greatest adventure," he said.

Brettel and the Program Development Directorate see an opportunity in the resources at SSC. Because SSC is the nation's largest consumer of hydrogen and is expert in handling the super-cold rocket fuel, SSC has submitted partnership proposals to the President's Office of Science and Technology Policy to have the center designated a national validation demonstration site for the hydrogen economy program. "It's a natural fit for the President's Management Agenda and his vision for a hydrogen economy," Brettel said. The designation would allow SSC and its partners - other NASA centers and federal agencies, universities, private companies, the U.S. departments of Energy and Transportation and the Southern Coalition for a Hydrogen Economy - to show how hydrogen fuel cells would work as an alternative to fossil fuels.

"We would develop, validate and verify the fuel cells' designs," he said. "We would produce lessons learned on the technical side and in safety of operation. Glenn Research Center would take the lead to enhance the fuel cells to make them technically better than their predecessors. Being the demonstration site will open avenues to learn how to apply the technology. What's the best method to put the cells into cars? Which cars run best? How do we partner with power companies?"

Negotiations are under way for that proposal, with an announcement expected before September. Brettel said the designation would ensure SSC maintains state-of-the-art rocket propulsion facilities and is prepared to be a strategic player in NASA's exploration program.

NASA's contribution to America, he said, is "far greater than a Shuttle flight. It's pushing the vision forward to allow further vision and further dreams to follow behind it."

Bilich completes MS Fire Academy

Brian Bilich, a member of the Bay Saint Louis Fire Department since July 2004, completed his six week required training with the Mississippi Fire Academy April 1. Bilich completed all of the traditional training for a rookie firefighter.

"Bilich was well prepared to make the most of his Academy training time having passed the physical agility requirements prior to his admission. He trained regularly with his shift and certainly handled himself well during last year's hurricane season," said Assistant Chief Pam San Filippo.

He has been assigned to C Shift with Captain Rodney Auguzin, Lt. Rusty Nicaise, and firemen Steven Parker, Brian Ladner, and Brian Sellier.

Young men and women, 18 years and older with a high school diploma or GED equivalent, who are interested in the fire services for a career are asked to contact San Filippo, 228-467-4736, for information regarding the next recruit class. Applicants are primarily accepted from the Bay Saint Louis area and then surrounding areas as space allows.

Recruit graduates are eligible for part-time work with the department and are seriously considered for full-time employment when positions are available. Completing the Bay Saint Louis recruit class is also helpful when seeking employment with other departments.

The initial program was developed by 30-year veteran fire fighter Mike Willumitis, who served as the chief instructor and now serves as a consultant to current instructors. The six department officers and firefighters with developed specialties are the current faculty for the program.

SSC a tradition for three '05 grads

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

During its 151 years of operation, many students at St. Stanislaus College Prep have formed lifelong ties with their fellow classmates. Among those with strong bonds of family, these ties are even greater.

Jordan Ellis, Hunter Hanson and Rollins Gordon, first cousins and graduating seniors, are three such individuals. The boys grew up together and stayed close throughout their high school careers.

The three of them have very different interests, but have always tried to use their talents for the betterment of themselves, their community and the world.

Gordon and Hanson have both done missionary work around the world. Both cousins spent two weeks in Glasgow, Scotland, refurbishing Overton Castle. The castle was to be used as a home for unwed mothers.

Hanson went on to spend two months in Botswana, working in the bush and preaching the gospel. He was without any of the comforts that most take for granted. Chief among these was running water. Hanson said his group did not have the opportunity to even bathe for the first month.

However, he said his time in Africa taught him a lot about being self-sufficient in the face of adversity. "You had to rely on yourself," he said. "You grow."

Nevertheless, Hanson said he was glad to be

Ellis, who played as fullback and linebacker for the Rock-a-Chaws since 8th grade, recently received a full football scholarship to Tulane University.

Hanson will be working on a pre-med curriculum at Mississippi College in Clinton, while Gordon plans to major in International Business at Mississippi State University in Starkville.

Gordon plays acoustic guitar, and writes in his spare time. Among other things, he wrote the reflections for this year's "Big Brother/Little Brother" ceremony at St. Stanislaus.

The cousins all participated in SSC's track and field discus events. Jordan Ellis also ran the 100 yard dash.

All three cousins said they would the friends and teachers they had at St. Stanislaus.

The boys' grandfather, John Ellis, Jr., is a native of Pass Christian and an alumnus of the class of 1943. Like his grandson Jordan, Ellis also played football for SSC. He was at the school at the same time as future Heisman Trophy winner Doc Blanchard, but did not get the opportunity to play with him.

Ellis went on to graduate from Duke University in North Carolina after attending college in Tennessee for one year. He spent several more years traveling the country while working for Westinghouse as a mechanical engineer. He later settled down in Bay St. Louis.

His wife, Alicia, is also a native of Bay St. Louis. She and John Ellis knew each other all their lives.

"These boys came over here with character," Alicia Ellis said. "This school has enhanced them, and made them men of mature character."

The Holy Bible tells us that the Lord hears the prayer of the righteous (Proverbs 15:29), and that we should approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need (Hebrews 4:16). Daily prayer is important in our lives: it refreshes our soul and gives strength to the weary. Prayers of petition, thanksgiving, and worship are all essential to maintain and enhance a spiritual presence in our lives. Prayer should not be just a once-a-week occasion or for only when we are in a panic situation. The Bible tells us that the will of God for us is "pray without ceasing." Although at times, this may seem impossible, along with our necessary daily tasks, our attitude should be that God is always with us, like a good friend who is always willing and able to help. We would surely not hesitate to ask a good friend for help when needed, and of course a "thank you" is always in order for help received. Persevering in prayer, and recognizing that God is the source of everything in our lives, will build a relationship that will endure forever.

AREA DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY PAGES

History is heavily colored

"St. Augustine Catholic Church was built in 1803 with funds provided by Cane River Creole patriarch, Nicolas Augustine Metoyer, and his brother Louis. St. Augustine is believed to be the first Catholic Church in the United States that was built and supported by people of color."

I sat dumbfounded, staring at the computer, muttering and wondering how this could be, since our New Orleans St. Augustine Catholic Church in Faubourg Tremé was supposed to be the oldest black Catholic parish in the United States of America.

In no time flat I was digging into a national Catholic directory in hot pursuit of that Cane River historical jewel which laid claim to such antiquity. I was soon on the phone with Jared Apponey, an employee of Holy Cross Church in Natchitoches, Louisiana, who steered me to Rhonda Gauthier and Janet Colson at "The Creole Heritage Center."

These enthusiastic staffers gave me a thumbnail sketch of their work at the center and a fascinating summary of St. Augustine Church's history. Situated in Cane River on the outskirts of Natchitoches, Creole St. Augustine Church had the surprising reverse role of being the mother church of several Caucasian mission churches.

After attaining mission status in 1829, the Cane River St. Augustine Church became a parish in 1856. So, dating back to October 9, 1842, the New Orleans St. Augustine Church still owns the title of the oldest black Catholic parish in the United States.

Yes, St. Augustine Catholic Church in New Orleans is preceded in age by St. Francis Xavier in Baltimore and St. Augustine in Cane River. By ten years, seniority belongs to St. Francis Xavier which was founded by free people of color and slaves in 1793. However, it was only a Eucharistic Community until it became a parish in 1863.

Second in seniority is St. Augustine Catholic Church in Cane River which was founded in 1803, became a mission church in 1829 and a parish in 1856. Without any intervening status, St. Augustine Catholic Church in New Orleans became a parish at the time of its dedication on October 9, 1842.

Most interesting of all is the free people of color linkage which is common to all three churches and absolutely vital in their very founding. Pairing up and collaborating with the free people of color, slaves were an active part of the establishment of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Baltimore in 1793.

Presumably, then, nothing was made of where the slaves were sitting vis-à-vis the free people of color at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Baltimore, since both slave and free had teamed up as one to establish the Eucharistic Community there in 1793.

In Faubourg Tremé in New Orleans, free people of color took the initiative to petition Bishop Antoine Blanc for the construction of their own church in Tremé. The bishop gladly granted the petition, considering the large numbers of Catholic free people of color, and also the distance from the cathedral, particularly during inclement weather.

A month or so before the church dedication, the free people of color bought enough pews for their families, so that they occupied one of the two main rows by themselves. Additionally, they purchased all the seats of the outside aisles which they then gave to the slaves for their exclusive use for Sunday worship.

In the situation at Cane River, where the slaves apparently had no pews of their own, the attendance of slaves at the Sunday Masses of St. Augustine Catholic Church seems to have been an unstructured, random occurrence as in most other churches.

Of course, the dynamic of that whole segment of history changed in 1863 with the promulgation of the Emancipation Proclamation by President Abraham Lincoln.

Though racism and discrimination were destined to hang on for many decades more, the deadly divide between slave and free, and between white and otherwise had begun to dissipate.

The two St. Augustine Catholic Churches and the St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church displayed somewhat of a parallel with the Italian, Irish, German, Polish and other national churches which cropped up in all the large cities of the United States.

But only somewhat of a parallel. Those national churches did not come about out of sheer necessity forced upon them by discrimination and segregation. Rather, they were created by the imperative of cultural and linguistic need, thus enabling the ethnics to worship through a medium and in an atmosphere they could thoroughly appreciate.

Yet, great good has come and continues to come from the three churches founded by free people of color. For blacks, they are emblems of Christian pride in its most sublime meaning: "The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone, a stone that will make people stumble, and a rock that will make them fall." (1 Peter 2:7,8)

Once more, we see that in our lives there are no accidents, there is no coincidence, but there is only Providence. Paul says it best in Romans 8:28: "We know that all things work for good for those who love God, who are called according to his purpose."

For whites, the three are stark reminders of what Christianity is surely not and of what Christianity is supposed to be, cast in the image of Jesus Christ himself. Seldom, if ever, completely attained, this ideal nonetheless remains as the ultimate challenge of total unselfishness, of complete solidarity with the human family, and of unconditional love.

For Catholics at large, the three historic jewels are there to see, to study, to appreciate and even to be an active part of at Sunday worship. They are surely a badge of sacred excellence, despite the harsh fact that they were born of bigotry and racial prejudice.

Jesus clarified this for the Samaritan woman at the well: "Believe me, woman, the hour is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem, but in Spirit and truth." (John 4:21,23)

Scripture Says

By Ed Young

The Throne of Grace

"Let us, therefore, come boldly unto the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." (Heb. 4:16)

The Born Again believer can boldly approach with confidence, the throne of the Lord Jesus, and make their request known. Can you imagine the fact that a Christian who may be troubled in mind, body, or spirit can have a downright, good old fashioned talk with the Lord of the Universe.

"Be anxious for nothing, but in everything, by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your request be known unto God." (Philp. 4: 6) "Cast all your cares upon Him, for He cares for you." (1 Peter 5: 7)

Just as you would go and talk to your earthly father, surely your heavenly Father is much more concerned and certainly able to answer your request with wisdom. It boggles one's mind to think we can approach this Heavenly Throne and know that Jesus is eager and willing to help us. However, we must understand this: The Lord says, "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways, my ways saith the Lord." (Isa. 55: 8) So expect the answer to be with great wisdom and understanding.

God bless you.

The "Word" for the Week

Excuses and blame shifting

We are all good at making excuses! As a small boy, I recall running through the living room and breaking a prize lamp. When corrected, my explanation was simple. "It just fell," I exclaimed. My mother was more perceptive. She asked pointedly, "Did it jump off the table all by itself?" We start making excuses at a very young age. Here is the classic excuse of adults: "But I'm only human." Yes, that's the way God made us. We twist this truth. Any mistake which can be traced back to the limits of my humanity is actually God's fault. The common excuse turns out to be the ultimate in blame shifting. We forget we are not only human, we are also sinful. The first man and woman were perfect! They were created in the image of God. Then sin entered the world. How? The Bible tells us, "Through one man sin entered the world" (Romans 5:12). This sin affected all humankind! As a result, we are not only human beings, we are sinful human beings! God also gave us the Ten Commandments. He gave this standard for living "that every mouth may be closed, and all the world may become accountable to God" (Romans 3:19). Even so, we excuse ourselves before God. Here's the tragedy. We miss the real significance of the gift of Christ! TO HEAR MORE ON THE SAME TOPIC CALL TOLL FREE FOR THE "MINI-MESSAGE OF THE WEEK" 1-800-777-0389 Or visit www.w-e-m.org

GCRL seeks applicants to receive summer field program financial aid

College students interested in the marine environment and coastal issues are invited to apply for financial aid for The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast Laboratory's 2005 summer field program.

The GCRL field program emphasizes hands-on experience on boats, beaches and barrier islands. Credits earned are transferred to students' home colleges or universities. Choices range from two to 12 weeks of courses, and students may earn up to 12 hours credit.

One scholarship and up to 20 grants are available for undergraduate students. Both types of financial aid require the applicant to be enrolled in the GCRL summer field program.

A $1,000 scholarship from the Bennie Rohr Scholarship Fund will be awarded to a coast student enrolled in the summer program. To be eligible, a student must be a resident of Hancock, Harrison or Jackson counties and must be majoring in biology. The grants are available to Mississippi residents who have been identified by their college or university as a minority and who enroll in the summer field program.

Mississippi students who attend college out of state are also eligible. The minority grant is for up to $2,050 and is awarded upon completion of a four-, five- or 10-week program.

"We are accepting registration for courses and applications for both the scholarship and the grants now," said Dawne Hard, GCRL summer program coordinator.

Contact Hard at (228) 872-4223 or dawne.hard@usm.edu. For more information visit www.usm.edu/gcrl and click on GCRL summer field program.

Join Coastal Community Watch for kick-off party

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Key of Sea, one of Mississippi's few designated Historical Landmarks, will be the site of the kick-off party for Coastal Community Watch, an activist group recently founded by Quarter Moon Gallery owner Ellis Anderson and local artist Lori Gordon. A highlight of the event will be a preview of Gordon's upcoming show at Quarter Moon, a new series of paintings called "End of the Road."

Coastal Community Watch is an internet-based activist group which promotes community involvement in decisions regarding development along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The group favors "smart growth," development that preserves our unique quality of life. Currently, they are working to halt construction of high-density, high rise towers in the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore neighborhood.

Popular local artist Lori Gordon chose the name for her new show of local landscape paintings with the current crisis in mind. "End of the Road" refers both to Gordon's home in Clermont Harbor, and to the reality that her cherished neighborhood is in imminent danger of being swallowed up by high rise developments.

Also on display during the event will be paintings of the area by Reilly Morse

"Full Moon Egret" by Lori Gordon and Lee Robertson, and photographs by James de Buys. Morse is the attorney for a group of Clermont Harbor residents who have filed suit against the Hancock County Board of Supervisors challenging their decision to rezone the area. Both Robertson and de Buys have long been a presence in the art community in Bay St. Louis. The kick off party will take place on Sunday, June 5 from 2-5 p.m. The Key of Sea is located at 300 Third Street in Bay St. Louis, on the corner of Citizen and Third. Live music will be provided by Mark Guest. Members and prospective members are invited to attend, and are asked to bring their own drink and a dish to share. Parking is limited, so please utilize the public parking lot located at Washington Street and Beach Blvd. Those who live in the neighborhood are asked to bicycle or walk to the event. Call Ellis Anderson at 467-7279 or 467-6202 or Lori Gordon at 466-9253 for more.

The Arts prepares for 2005 ArtsAlive! Studio Tour

THE SEA COAST ECHO
This Wednesday, May 25, a meeting of The Arts, Hancock County will be held at 6 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Library. One of the main topics will be the second annual ArtsAlive! Studio Tour planned for the weekend of November 19 and 20, 2005.

"Last year, 54 artists were featured in 24 locations throughout Hancock County. Despite a very rainy Saturday, we had a wonderful turnout," cited Gwen Impson, President of The Arts. "The studio tour was sponsored by the Sea Coast Echo, the Hancock County Bureau of Tourism and Development and the City of Bay St. Louis. This year, we hope to increase both the number of artists participating and the number of sponsors."

Beth Carriere, Director of Tourism, credits the 16 page, color newspaper supplement published by the Sea Coast Echo as a primary means of publicizing the studio tour. Each participating artist had a photo, bio and description of their studio listed in the supplement. She said that her staff will be working with the ArtsAlive! committee to increase the range and scope of publicity for the event. To entice visitors to stay overnight, she will be working with area motels and bed and breakfast businesses on special promotion packages.

"There is not other community anywhere on the coast doing anything like this," she said. "The studio tour offers a unique opportunity to visit individual studios, observe work in progress and buy art directly from the artist."

Wednesday's meeting will focus on suggested changes for this year's event and plans to involve more of the art and business community. Sign up forms will be available for anyone, no matter the media, to participate. For more information, call The Arts at 467-1007.

Dead") plays real estate tycoon Donald Trump in this new biodrama. It traces Trump's early years and rise to wealth with the equally ambitious Ivana (Katheryn Winnick, "Two Weeks Notice") by his side, as well as the very public collapse of their marriage and his later union with model Maria Maples (Jennifer Baxter, "America's Prince: The John F. Kyan also helps Carson overhaul Kord's wardrobe, which consists mainly of what a friend calls "New England sports grunge." For career tips, Jal introduces Kord to veteran sportscaster Ahmad Rashad.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: Me, Myself & Irene

Jim Carrey reteamed with "There's Something About Mary" writer-directors Peter and Bobby Farrelly, with whom he also made "Dumb and Dumber," on this equally wacky 2000 comedy. The picture revels in political incorrectness as Carrey plays a policeman with dual personalities, complicating his protection of a crime witness (Renee Zellweger). Worse still, both sides of him fall for her. Chris Cooper ("Adaptation") co-stars.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

Bridget (Kaley Cuoco) wants to have an after-prom party at a hotel, but Cate (Kaley Sagal) vetoes that idea and throws a school-sanctioned shindig at the house instead. The kids are embarrassed about that, but two of them have other, prom-related matters on their minds. Kerry (Amy Davidson) wants to bring another girl, and an attractive senior wants to bring Roy (Marin Spanjers). David Spade also stars in "The After Party."

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

The Girards undergo depositions in connection with the lawsuit over the car accident that left Kevin (Jason Ritter) disabled. As each member relates his or her version of events, flashbacks show that everyone remembers the day quite differently. Amber Tamblyn, Joe Mantegna and Mary Steenburgen star in "No Future."

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Complete Savages

Betty White returns as Mrs. Riley, who has a heart attack on the Savages' doorstep. The boys try to give her CPR, using some unconventional methods involving a toilet plunger and a bicycle pump. They receive an award for their alleged heroism, but there's a witness who knows what really happened. Keith Carradine, Andrew Elden, Shaun Sipos, Erik von Detten and Evan Ellingson star in the new episode "Saving Old Lady Riley."

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Faith (Kelly Ripa) returns from a foreign jaunt prepared to rejoin the household, if Charley (Tad McInerney) will let her. In "Escape From Albuquerque," it doesn't take long for her to stir up fresh trouble on several fronts — and to test Charley's patience yet again. Faith Ford also stars.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

In "Corporate Raiders," Harm and Mac (David James Elliott, Catherine Bell) investigate the death of a Marine from friendly fire in Iraq. According to his widow, the man had some serious concerns about the behavior of consultants working for a private security company. Harm wants to court-martial their leader, a former Marine, but will need to have him recalled to active status first.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

In "Thanksgiving," Reba and Barbara Jean (Reba McEntire, Melissa Ponzeman) are at odds over Turkey Day hosting duties. Finally, they agree to have the dinner at Reba's and share the cooking. The meal could have an uninvited guest, however, one large, green-eyed monster, as Barbara Jean still feels hurt over the amount of attention the family pays Reba.

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Less Than Perfect

Claude (Sara Rue) tries to make a match for Ramona (Sheri Shepherd) with Mike (guest star Erik Palladino), a handsome new addition to the office. Mike, however, is interested in someone else — namely her. Job and Lydia (Patrick Warburton, Andrea Parker) have some cosmetic work done. Kipp (Zachary Levi) misinterprets a phone call in "Ain't It a Shame, Claude?"

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

NUMB3RS

Someone's unleashed a deadly biological weapon in Los Angeles in "Vector." When Don (Rob Morrow) and his FBI colleagues are assigned to investigate, he calls on Charlie (David Krumholtz) to add up the evidence in an effort to stop the virus and find its source ... who has a surprising motive. Judd Hirsch and Sabrina Lloyd also star.

In Focus

As if "The Apprentice" hasn't made him enough of a home-screen presence, the colorful life of "The Donald" is traced in the new movie "Trump Unauthorized," starring Justin Louis and airing Tuesday, May 24, on ABC. Louis ("Missing") has the title role of the real-estate tycoon whose life becomes tabloid fodder via his marriage to first wife Ivana (Kathryn Winnick). The spotlight became even more glaring once his relationship with model Maria Maples (Jennifer Baxter) becomes common knowledge.

It's going to be a big movie summer for defenders of justice ... giving "Fantastic Four" co-star Jessica Alba and many others a showcase in the three-night Bravo special "Ultimate Screen Super Heroes," starting Thursday, May 26. The first episode is "Super Heroes," the other two cover "Super Villains" and "Super Villains." Adam West, TV's "Batman," narrates the compilation of clips and interviews. Participants include "Star Wars" mentor George Lucas and actors Harrison Ford and Kirsten Dunst.

In Focus

As if "The Apprentice" hasn't made him enough of a home-screen presence, the colorful life of "The Donald" is traced in the new movie "Trump Unauthorized," starring Justin Louis and airing Tuesday, May 24, on ABC. Louis ("Missing") has the title role of the real-estate tycoon whose life becomes tabloid fodder via his marriage to first wife Ivana (Kathryn Winnick). The spotlight became even more glaring once his relationship with model Maria Maples (Jennifer Baxter) becomes common knowledge.

It's going to be a big movie summer for defenders of justice ... giving "Fantastic Four" co-star Jessica Alba and many others a showcase in the three-night Bravo special "Ultimate Screen: Super Heroes," starting Thursday, May 26. The first episode is "Super Heroes," the other two cover "Super Villains" and "Super Villains." Adam West, TV's "Batman," narrates the compilation of clips and interviews. Participants include "Star Wars" mentor George Lucas and actors Harrison Ford and Kristen Dunst.

A dead civilian is found on a Marine firing range, which leads to the discovery that the Mafia has been using the site as a dumping ground for years. When the victim is identified as an undercover FBI agent, Gibbs (Mark Harmon) counterpart in the bureau, Agent Fornell (guest star Joe Spano), is accused of spying for the mob. Sasha Alexander and David McCallum also star in "The Bone Yard."

Movie: The Patriot

Colonial plantation owner and French and Indian War veteran Benjamin Martin (Mel Gibson) has no interest in the fight for independence from the British. He certainly doesn't want his oldest son (Heath Ledger) to join the rebellion, but he can't stop him. When a British colonel captures the youth and kills his brother, Dad becomes the redcoats' worst nightmare. Chris Cooper, Joely Richardson and Rene Auberjonois also star in this 2000 drama.

Cold Case

Lilly (Kathryn Morris) and her team reopen a murder case that brings back painful memories for those who survived the "red scare" of the 1950s. Orson Bean (Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman) guest stars in "Red Glare" as a man suspected of having communist sympathies. It's a role to which Bean can relate, having been on the Hollywood blacklist in real life.

8 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Empire Falls

Paul Newman, an Oscar nominee for his work in 1994's "Nobody's Fool," stars in another adaptation of a Richard Russo novel. Like "Fool," this two-part comedy-drama is set in a weary, past-life-prime Northeastern town. Newman plays the busybody father of restaurateur Miles Roby (Ed Harris), who, try as he might, can't shake his ties to the old hometown. Helen Hunt, Robin Wright-Penn and Joanne Woodward also star. Part 2 airs Sunday.

10 p.m. on 25-FOX

Mad TV

Guest star Nicole Richie ("The Simple Life") portrays Kelly Ripa in a shampoo commercial parody that also features Nicole Parker as Sarah Jessica Parker and Danielle Gauthier as Violette Jones. Parker also plays Kelly Clarkson in a sendup of the "American Idol" winner's video "Since U Been Gone," with Michael McDonald as "Idol" judge Simon Cowell. Musical guest the Donnas perform.
